

1. Introduction and context

The Australian National University ('ANU' or 'the University') is Australia's national university and has a unique history among Australian universities. Our story dates back more than 75 years as a university and more than 20,000 years as a meeting place to share knowledge by our First Nation custodians. We were established by an act of Federal Parliament, to provide Australia with a national centre of research, learning and teaching that would help shape and hold conversations that has built the world around us. As set out in our current Act, ANU was founded to advance and transmit knowledge, "by undertaking research and teaching of the highest quality".

The enduring mission of the University remains. From the global financial crisis, to pandemics, war and civil unrest, government intervention, along with discoveries of emergent fields and ways of thinking, it has never been more critical to invest in research and education for Australia. It is both a responsibility and privilege to undertake this work on behalf of the University community, the nation and neighbouring region.

The higher education sector is facing unprecedented disruption globally and nationally. Commonwealth Government initiatives such as managed growth of international and domestic students, Support for Students Policy, and the pending establishment of the Australian Tertiary Education Commission, and the National Student Ombudsman will all deepen external scrutiny and oversight of universities and further complicate funding, administration and reporting.

External headwinds

The University recognises the need to strengthen and realign its organisational structure. The University seeks a deliberate and well-planned approach to ensure the implementation of a fit for purpose structure designed to meet our strategic, operational and financial goals, also guided by the University's commitment to transparency and wellbeing of staff and members of the campus community.

In 2024, the University completed the realignment of several professional service areas, including finance, human resources, and information technology, as well as the disestablishment of the Division of Shared Services. These realignments were made to provide service improvement, standardisation and connectivity in professional service functions. These contemporary realignment activities underpin improved service delivery in line with other institutions in the higher education sector.

The University will continue to realign professional services in the broader University ecosystem. This includes services supporting research, education, governance, facilities, marketing, communications and engagement. The University will streamline professional support services through a realignment and focus on consistent and equitable service delivery to ensure clear accountability and responsibilities.

ANU has committed to a financial sustainability plan to reduce operating expenditure by 2026 through a significant $250 million annual reduction in operating expenses, split between non-salary and salary costs.

RESEARCH & INNOVATION PORTFOLIO

The Research and Innovation Portfolio ('the Portfolio'), is led by the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research and Innovation) and is responsible for the strategic development, leadership, governance and management of research and innovation activities at the University.

The Portfolio is focussed on building the University's research profile, performance and impact ensuring alignment with the needs of strategic partners, end-users and the broader community. The Portfolio oversees the development of research strategies, capabilities, policies, research support services and systems to achieve the University's strategic goals in research and innovation.

The Portfolio currently includes six main areas, each with dedicated teams. An overview of these teams within the organisational structure is provided in Figure 1 of Appendix 1 and includes:

- Office of the Deputy Vice Chancellor for Research and Innovation;
- Graduate Research, responsible for providing academic leadership, strategic direction, and oversight of the University's Higher Degree Research Programs to ensure delivery of high quality, internationally benchmarked research programs. It also includes responsibility for support and administration of NECTAR (Network for Early-Career Teachers, Academics and Researchers);
- Research Initiatives and Infrastructure, supports cross-University research initiatives and university-scale research infrastructure. Specifically, strategic support and advice to the ANU NCRIS (National Collaborative Research Infrastructure Strategy) investments, and coordination of a portfolio of strategic initiatives each working to address society's most challenging issues. The scope extends to oversight of ANU Collections strategy and advice, and the Statistical Support Network;
- Research and Information Services, focussed on the provision of research services including contractual, governance and compliance activities through two teams (Research Performance and Research Governance and Services);
- Research Partnerships and Translation, manages business development, commercialisation and IP, strategic partnerships, and ANU Enterprise (ANUE); and
- Scholarly Information Services (SIS), oversees the management and operations of the five campus libraries and associated services including Archives, Digitisation, ANU Press, Collections and others.

This document outlines the background, rationale and expected outcomes of a proposed change in the Research & Innovation Portfolio. It has been prepared to facilitate consultation with staff and their union in accordance with Clauses 69 and 70 of The Australian National University Enterprise Agreement 2023-2026 (the Enterprise Agreement).

2. Rationale and details of the proposed change

The ANU has an enduring mission to deliver world class research and innovation. Currently this is underpinned by the Enabling Impact: The ANU Research Strategy 2024+. The realisation of such ambitions will be bolstered by new and upgraded research support systems envisioned in the Digital Plan.

To best support our mission and ambitions, it is proposed that the Portfolio will undergo a refocus of its structure and operations. The proposal is designed to prioritise essential functions and streamline operations. The aim is to reach a more efficient state of functioning and sustainability. The proposed changes help address long term financial sustainability, and better position the Portfolio to engage with and support Colleges more effectively. A summary of the proposed restructure and rationale is outlined below and is further detailed in Part 3.

It is proposed that the business development team be disestablished. Moving forward, we are transitioning to a new model of support that better reflects the evolving research landscape and institutional priorities. The proposed restructure will include boosting of our capabilities in creating research partnerships and stakeholder relationship management to ensure key relationships with industry continue to be fostered and nurtured. This change will enable us to focus resources to support our researchers and external partners.

It is proposed the Portfolio add university-wide capability to support researchers across clinical trials, MRFF and NHMRC-administered opportunities. This will include establishing a dedicated function to enable and strengthen partnerships, ensuring ANU maximises its participation in these areas to drive growth and research income.

It is proposed to disestablish the Research Funding and Development Team, to allow the Portfolio to align its service offerings with that of the research lifecycle. This strategic realignment underlines our ongoing commitment to providing high-quality research services. It is proposed that work associated with regulatory compliance with funding bodies, including US Federal Funding (for example, National Institutes of Health), and associated activities move to Research Governance and Services team.

Under this change proposal, vacant roles under the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Graduate Research) are proposed for disestablishment.

It is proposed to change the reporting line of the Director Scholarly Information Services, to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure). This realignment is in line with the University's research strategy and ensures that the management and governance of research infrastructure are consolidated under the remit of the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure). This approach will allow for more cohesive and strategic oversight of research infrastructure and associated resources, positioning the Portfolio to better support the University's research goals.

The Library Communications team are proposed to be disestablished, along with four roles of the SIS Digitisation Team and two (2) roles in the ANU Press team. It is also proposed to change the reporting lines of ANU Press and Digitisation team from Director SIS to Associate Director, Library Services.

The Archives and Records team is proposed to be retitled as University Archives, reporting to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure).

Additionally, it is proposed to change the reporting structure for the below areas to better align their day-to-day operations:

- Transfer in reporting lines of Drill Hall Gallery from Director SIS to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure).
- Transfer in reporting lines of the ANU node of Australian Research Data Commons (ARDC) from Director SIS to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure) in line with other NCRIS facilities.

As part of this proposal, the Records team and the Privacy Officer will transfer from the Research & Information Portfolio to the Legal, Governance and Risk Office, which is part of the Chief Operating Officer Portfolio.

3. Impacts of the proposed change

The proposed impact of this Change Proposal will include:

- The change in reporting lines for six (6) professional staff positions;
- The establishment of seven (7) new continuing professional staff positions;
- The disestablishment of twenty-seven (27) continuing professional staff positions;
- The disestablishment of five (5) vacant continuing professional staff positions;
- The disestablishment of five (5) fixed term professional staff positions; and
- The disestablishment of one (1) vacant fixed term professional staff position.

The proposed change comprises:

- The establishment of a new stakeholder relationship manager role to ensure key relationships with industry are nurtured;
- The establishment of new grant specialist roles specific to clinical trials, MRFF, and NHMRC-administered opportunities;
- Disestablishing the Business Development team;
- Disestablishing the Research Funding and Development team to allow the portfolio to align its service offerings with that of the research lifecycle;

- Establishing two new Compliance and Information Officer roles with a focus on Research Funding;
- Disestablishing the Library Communications team;
- Disestablishing four (4) roles in the SIS Digitisation Team;
- Disestablishing two (2) roles in the ANU Press team;
- Disestablishing two (2) roles (one (1) vacant) in the SIS Archives Team;
- Transfer in reporting lines of Director, SIS to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure);
- Transfer in reporting line of ANU Press and the Digitisation team from Director SIS to Associate Director Library Services;
- Transfer in reporting line of Drill Hall Gallery from Director SIS to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure);
- Transfer in reporting line of the ANU node of Australian Research Data Commons (ARDC) from Director SIS to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure);
- The Records team and the Privacy Officer from SIS will transfer from the Research & Information Portfolio to the Legal, Governance and Risk office in the Chief Operating Officer Portfolio;
- The Archives and Records team will be retitled as University Archives reporting to Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Initiatives and Infrastructure); and
- Disestablishing three (3) vacant roles under the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Graduate Research).

The current and proposed detailed staff structures for the Research & Innovation Portfolio are provided in appendices 1–4.
