AILEEN MORETON-ROBINSON INDIGENOUS STUDENT PRIZE

CONDITIONS OF AWARD

1. INTRODUCTION AND RECOGNITION

Each year the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy may offer one award known as the Aileen Moreton-Robinson Indigenous Student Prize.

The objectives of the prize are to recognise an Indigenous student(s) who has demonstrated a high level of academic excellence by completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) program with a GPA of 5 or an Indigenous student who has completed a Juris Doctor and achieved a GPA of 5 at the ANU College of Law.

The value of the prize/s awarded is $1000. If two or more students are eligible, the prize will be awarded to the highest overall GPA. If the award cannot be split, the prize awarded in that year shall be divided equally between them.

The prize will be on offer annually unless otherwise advised.

Funding for this prize has been provided by the Mick Dodson Endowment fund. The Prize is named in honour of Aileen Moreton-Robinson, a Goenpul woman from Minjerribah who is a distinguished academic, Indigenous feminist, author and activist for Indigenous rights.

2. ELIGIBILITY

The award is available each year to an ANU student who:

- (a) Is a domestic or international student and who is a member of the indigenous community; and
- (b) has completed the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) program in the calendar year relevant to the award of the prize and achieved an overall GPA of 5 for their academic career; or
- (c) has completed the Juris Doctor program in the calendar year relevant to the award of the prize and achieved an overall GPA of 5 for their academic career.

3. SELECTION AND CONSTRAINTS

Selection is made on the basis of academic merit.

The ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy reserves the right to make no award if it considers there is no applicant of sufficient merit. ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy may also vary the number of prizes if multiple winners are identified by splitting the prize.

If the programs cease to be offered or is not offered in a given year, it is at the discretion of the Dean of the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy (or delegate) to nominate a prize recipient who was enrolled in a program which has similar content.

Where required, the ANU Medals Committee will be available for qualitative or subjective assessment determinants if a decision is not reached within the College to determine prize winners.

4. RECIPIENT OBLIGATIONS

The awarding of a prize is based on the information provided to the University. A prize may be declined by the recipient once they have been notified as the prize winner. This must be provided in writing to the ANU College of Law, Governance and Policy no later than two weeks from notification.

If the prize is accepted by the recipient, they agree to the Publication of their name.
