GARNAUT PRIZE CONDITIONS OF AWARD

1. INTRODUCTION AND RECOGNITION

Each year the Crawford School of Public Policy, College of Law, Governance and Development may offer a prize known as the Garnaut Prize.

The objective of the prize is to recognise outstanding achievement in the Master of Climate Change.

The value of the prize awarded is $500.

The prize will be on offer each semester.

The prize will be on offer from 2025 to 2027 unless otherwise advised.

Funding for this prize has been provided by the Crawford School of Public Policy.

This prize is named for Ross Garnaut AC, an eminent economist whose career has been built around the analysis of and practice of policy connected to development, economic policy and international relations in Australia, Asia and the Pacific.

Prof Garnaut was Head of the Economics Department and Division of the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies at the ANU for over a decade from 1989. He played leading roles from the mid-seventies until 2009 in building the Australian National University's capacity in research and graduate education on Southeast Asia, China and South Asia. He has led many high-level Government Reviews and Commissions, including the preparation of the Report to the Australian Prime Minister and Foreign Minister 'Australia and the Northeast Asian Ascendancy' (1989); the Review of the Wool Industry (1993); the Review of Commonwealth-State Funding (2002); and the Garnaut Climate Change Review (2008).

2. ELIGIBILITY

The award is available each semester to an ANU student who:

- a. is a domestic or international student; and
- b. is enrolled in the Master of Climate Change in the Crawford School of Public Policy; and
- c. has completed the requirements for the award of Master of Climate Change; and,
- d. has achieved the highest weighted average mark for this degree program as determined by the Resources, Environment and Development Department Examiner's Committee.

3. SELECTION AND CONSTRAINTS

Selection is made on the basis of academic merit.

A student is not eligible to be awarded the prize if:

- a. the student has made a second or subsequent attempt at any course in the master's degree; or
- b. the student has previously pursued a course of study in a course, unit or subject (whether at the University or another tertiary education institution), the content of which is, in the opinion of the Dean of College of Law, Governance and Policy, substantially similar to the content of any of the courses for which the prize is to be awarded.

The Resources, Environment and Development Department Examiner's Committee reserves the right to make no award if it considers there is no applicant of sufficient merit.

The Resources, Environment and Development Department Examiner's Committee may also vary the number of prizes if multiple winners are identified by splitting the prize.

If there is no student in a graduating cohort who achieves results that justify the award of the prize in the opinion of the Resources, Environment and Development Department Examiner's Committee no prize shall be awarded.

Where required, the ANU Medal's Committee will be available for qualitative or subjective assessment determinants if a decision is not reached within the College to determine prize winners.
