

L F Crisp Memorial Prize for First Year International Relations

CONDITIONS OF AWARD

1. INTRODUCTION AND RECOGNITION

Each year the School of Politics and International Relations may offer one prize per annum known as the L F Crisp Memorial Prize for First Year International Relations.

The objective of the prize is to reward the student studying International Relations with the highest mark in a first year course.

The value of the prize is $1,000.

The prize is distributed annually.

L F Crisp was a Professor of Political Science during the University's founding years and was Head of Department in the late 1960s. Funding for this prize has been provided from L F Crisp's estate.

2. ELIGIBILITY

The award is available each year to an ANU student who is:

- (a) a domestic or international student
- (b) enrolled in a program leading to the award of a degree of Bachelor in the ANU College of Arts and Social Sciences.

3. SELECTION AND CONSTRAINTS

The prize shall be awarded to the student who achieved the best result as shown by the award of the highest mark in a first year International Relations course.

A student is not eligible to be awarded the prize if the student is making a second or subsequent attempt at the nominated course.

If, in any year, two or more students equally merit the award of the prize, the prize awarded for that year shall be divided equally between them.

If, in any year, no student achieves results that, in the opinion of the Dean, College of Arts and Social Sciences, justify the awarding the prize, the prize shall not be awarded for that year.

Where required, the University Medal Committee will be available for qualitative or subjective assessment determinants if a decision is not reached within the College to determine prize winners.
