CONDITIONS OF AWARD

1. INTRODUCTION AND RECOGNITION

Each year the National Security College may offer up to two prizes which shall be known as the National Security College Award.

The objective of the prize is to recognise students who achieved the best overall results as shown by the highest aggregate mark in the Master of National Security Policy and the Master of National Security Policy (Advanced). One prize will be available for a student enrolled in each program.

The value of the prize awarded is $500 each.

The prize will be awarded twice per year from 2018 to 2020.

Funding for this prize has been provided by the National Security College.

2. ELIGIBILITY

The award is available each year to an ANU student who is:

3. SELECTION AND CONSTRAINTS

The prize shall be awarded to the student who achieves the highest aggregate mark in each program, being the Master of National Security Policy and the Master of National Security Policy (Advanced).

The highest aggregate mark will be calculated using all courses attempted while enrolled in the relevant program, being the Master of National Security Policy or the Master of National Security Policy (Advanced). Courses taken at ANU and credited towards the completion of the students' program will be included in the calculation.

The National Security College reserves the right to make no award if it considers there is no applicant of sufficient merit. The College may also vary the number of prizes if multiple winners are identified by sharing the prize between winners.
